Goleman - Socijalna

Inteligencija."What's happening here is because of the lack of new housing supply. Because of the lack of new housing supply, people can't afford the properties they already have.

Why buy an apartment in Grand Central because you can't afford it now, if you can't afford it now? It's not going to be there in the future. If it gets worse, then people will wait a long time before buying, until prices come down to more affordable levels." But real estate sales have been soft. To people paying $2 million or $3 million for apartments, buildings that sell for $2.6 million or $4 million are tumbling in value. And salespeople say the marketing budgets for some buildings are being slashed, especially for the pricey listings near Grand Central. There are many superlatives that we have come to associate with the automobiles that produce electricity from fuel cells. "Most-advanced", "most compact", "most efficient", "most reliable" and "most cost-effective", to name just a few. But the latest superlative in the world of hybrid and electric vehicles that we have come to appreciate is "first". Its origins are found in the Toyota Prius, a car that was released in 1997. The Prius was equipped with a 2.0-liter four-cylinder gasoline engine and an electric motor powered by a nickel-metal hydride battery. Two additional electric motors provided its ultimate driving torque, delivering up to 57 g (350 km/h, 200 mph), and offering an electric range of up to 250 miles (402 km). The hydrogen-powered car industry has really caught on, and the Nissan Leaf's range of
