We provide the latest Hollywood motion pictures for free and download them on PC, mobile and other devices.(Our thanks to Jim Forest from WSRF for this excellent post. If you aren't familiar with WSRF, it's a non-profit educational organization that helps to make SDRs affordable to everyone.) Let's start with a few comments on a question I've seen before: "So when can I get one?" If you've just run across a SDR in the news and you want one as soon as possible, you'll probably need to find a dealer in your area that has one. I think these guys are starting to emerge in a lot of places. They can usually be found on eBay, too. You might also be able to find one at your local Radio Shack. Alternatively, you could buy a used one at a reasonable price. (Of course, once the hobby starts to catch on, there won't be many of them to go around!) As Jim says, the SDR you buy is really only a part of
