We sincerely hope this software can be very useful to you. This is really annoying. All of a sudden, one of my new cell phones (yep, I bought a new cell phone from Walmart just before coming here) started having issues. I plugged it in, opened the "charging" option, and it told me that the battery has been removed by accident while being charged. I honestly don't know what's going on. Once I unplugged it, I wanted to backup my contacts to my computer and open the app to convert them into.csv. I turned on the phone to see whether I could access the data on the phone, but it was too late. Now, when I try to back up, it tells me that the phone contains no memory (
