As part of my build script I need to show a list of solution's properties and their values. Something along the lines of: $a = Get-Solution | Format-List -Property * But I need to get the property name and value for one specific project in the solution. I'm guessing I'll have to get a list of the projects and check each one somehow, but unsure how to go about doing that. Any suggestions? A: If the project that you want is in the solution you can get its properties this way: $a = Get-ChildItem -Path 'MySolutionFolder\MyProjectFolder' $a | Format-List * You can also get all the properties in the project at once: $a = Get-ChildItem -Path 'MySolutionFolder\MyProjectFolder' -Property '*' $a | Format-List * For more information check this documentation. A fuel injection system for an internal combustion engine including a high pressure pump having a rotary shaft, an engine body rotatably supporting the rotary shaft, and a high pressure pump driving shaft for driving the high pressure pump along the rotary shaft, is known from JP 11-106731 A, for example. Specifically, a bearing for mounting the high pressure pump driving shaft is mounted on the engine body by a single bolt so as to be compressively displaceable with respect to the rotary shaft. In the fuel injection system, the high pressure
