I read the other reviews and I'm sure ImgBurn 9 had many of the same issues but it's completely different and as a result, ImgBurn is an 8* rating. I'm happy with it! Good product Pros: Ease-of-use Functionality Quality Value for money Customer support Cons: 06-03-2017 Patty Apple Computer For Home and Office Version 7.0 Overall: 5 I use Imgburn almost daily. It works well, is easy to use and really easy on the discs we're burning. I was having trouble with some discs. (I'm not a pro, in fact, I'm still learning.) I had selected an unrecoverable media, and Imgburn said it was an error in the burning process. I went and checked the disc, and sure enough, it had a hole. No problem. Imgburn offers free media recovery, so I just had to do that once. That took care of it. I know that Imgburn has improved over the years. I'm sure the upgrade to 9 will be a big improvement, but I have not upgraded yet.

Based on the premise that nobody wants to buy or sell items over the Internet, no one is more entitled than the user. However, the world of cyber-transactions is fraught with bureaucracy, rules, and a host of other factors that are less than desirable. Fair-Deal.com offers a solution to this conundrum, providing a platform for users to request car buying services as well as conduct business with each other. Fair-Deal.com gives users the option to seek car buying services with auto dealers. This is made possible by using their search engine, which is designed to provide users with a list of auto dealers that may be looking for salesmen. Unfortunately, an unavailability of the product is only expected to happen in certain states such as Ohio. So, for the purposes of describing Fair-Deal.com, we'll be drawing upon the following features: A search engine for local businesses A database of car dealerships across the country A directory listing for sale, buy, and lease cars A task management option that allows users to add jobs Search engine for local business In a nutshell, Fair-Deal.com serves as the best car buying and selling tool, as it is designed to focus on local businesses. Basically, the company runs an online directory listing of locations in the United States that are looking for salesmen. And while Fair-Deal.com might be best known for their database of car dealerships, this free service is also able to offer users the option to search for car dealers for the purpose of requesting a job. In order to find a car dealership on the site, users will need to log in and perform a search on one of the many options available. Basically, the company allows users to make a search based on the type of vehicle they're looking for, state, and zip code. At the same time, users can use the search engine to look for car dealerships based on a variety of additional criteria such as purchase price and sale price. After completing the search, users are provided with a list of car dealerships that are currently accepting applications for salesmen. In addition to the dealership name, contact information, including phone number and email address, is displayed along with a map depicting the dealership's physical location. Interestingly, Fair-Deal.com does not offer the option to list a dealership's website, which is quite a deviation from other online directories. However, b7e8fdf5c8
