CPU Your computer processor or central processing unit (CPU) is a trusted friend, responsible for taking care of all of the functions needed for your computer to function. It's as important as your heart to your physical health. Most all computers will have a traditional central processing unit (CPU) in the form of an Intel or AMD computer processor, but now some new machines are equipped with a multicore CPU, which has multiple CPUs that can operate simultaneously. For example, a Erwan Alary Erwan Alary (; born 6 August 1971) is a former professional footballer from Luxembourg. As a player, he was predominantly a central midfielder. Alary was notable for his consistency, consistency and for his scoring rate, he was a highly sought-after signing when he joined FC Vichy in 1996. His speed and technique endeared him to fans, though his abrasive play off the ball was criticized. Alary left for Belgian club Standard Liège in 2000. He soon returned to Luxembourg after a season with Standard Liège, signing with CS Oberkampf and in 2006 he signed for Metz. After six successful years at Metz, he signed for Amiens. On 25 October 2014, he announced his retirement. A tall, lanky and speedy playmaker, Alary was always an outstanding technician with plenty of tricks up his sleeve. Although he lacked the big goals in his haul, he was a competitor and a creative and consistent performer. He is also the cousin of former Luxembourg international and current Club Brugge B-Team coach Ilie Dumitrescu. Erwan Alary made his debut for the Luxembourg national team on 15 September 1993 against Austria. He was included in the squad that took part at the 1998 FIFA World Cup and was the only Luxembourg player to play in that tournament. His last match for Luxembourg was on 30 May 2001 against Hungary.
