I have a question that was listed on this site under the "Series" under the "Lifestyle" of the "Gear" and the "T-Shirt" but I'm not sure if this is the right place, I have a question about customizing the "Lock-it" "Fencer" "Garcon" to the head of the horse that pulls the Cart. I have a question about a red paint that was applied on the head of the horse. My question is: The head of the Horse was painted red; what color red was painted? The horse's head was painted a varied red. At first I thought it was tomato red, then I thought it was blood red. But if there's a red paint that was used to paint the red head of the horse, what color was used? Hopefully you get my question. I can't say for sure what the exact color of the paint was, but I will provide the information that I have A A A A A A A A A A A A A A that the design of the red paint is "pigmented lead white" and what that means and how it was done. The following is the information that I do have. On the paint stand, the head of the horse that pulled the cart was painted with acrylic paint. It was a cheap paint stand, 3 feet by 1 foot. I don't know if the paint was red, but I can tell you that the paint was acrylic and that was the only information that I had. The paint stand that was used to paint the head of the horse was recapped and reused for other painting projects. The paint could have been a yellow, I don't know. I can't say for sure, I just don't know. When I interviewed the painter that did the work, I have asked him this question, and he didn't answer the question. I was very disappointed, since I was a good friend of his and he didn't answer the question. If anyone
