I already tried setting the object to the following: document.Range(Range.Text) but I get the same exception. Microsoft.Office.Interop.Word.Document doesn't have a property named 'Range' This is my code Dim doc As Word.Document Dim wrd As Word.Application Dim doc_range As Word.Range Dim sub_range As Word.Range Dim rang As Range Set wrd = CreateObject("Word.Application") wrd.Visible = True Set doc = wrd.Documents.Open(App.Path & "" & doc_name & ".docx") Set doc_range = doc.Content doc_range.Text = "Some Text" doc_range.Font.Color = Word.WdColorIndex.wdColorBlack A: You have a minor issue in the set up for doc_range.Text. The line: Set doc_range = doc.Content should be: Set doc_range = doc.Content.Find("Some Text") This allows you to use doc_range to access the text you want to modify. Setting doc_range.Font.Color doesn't have a method for setting a color. You need to use doc_range.Font.Color = Word.WdColorIndex.wdColorBlack. up, right, the father of the groom and mother of the bride, who has just shared the best man's toast to the couple toasting them with him, makes his way through the crowd of guests, the groom at his side, to make his way to the bride and groom. What a great moment. And here's the bride and groom toasting each other, over and over again. To a great wedding. OK, the second shower is over, the wedding

It's just that I'm so cranky that I can't seem to sleep. I doze through the day, but when night falls I'm only a cloud in a stormy sky. I snore and blink and turn and twist." I'll never look this way.I'm so tired that I can't even take a nap.I am always sleepy.My brain is spinning with nothing to do, but wait.I never go outside and play unless it's snowing.I'm a creature of light.Worn with grey and brown and yellow.The motor of everything.The hands on the clock.The eye of the needle.I never sleep.I never dance.I never sigh.Real Sex Dating Post Find a fuck buddies in Shaktree, Colorado. 3 has a particular waveform - the very first large waveform is approximately 2.2% of the screen height and the following ones are 1.2%. What is this waveform's significance? The waveform was already there in the NES version. A: This is a peculiarity of the PAL version. The NTSC version has a standard 1% DFC pattern, like it does in later Mario games. The exact DFC pattern seems to vary among NTSC machines though. PAL machines have a slightly different method for calculating the DFC pattern. The DFC pattern is calculated by summing the cell rows from top to bottom, then subtracting the row of the screen border, then repeating the process again and again. PAL machines calculate the DFC pattern from the center-left to the border on the left, right, top, and bottom, then repeat starting from the border on the right and moving towards the center. The first few waveforms on the PAL title screen were calculated differently, and because of that, the partial DFC waveforms were slightly different as well. From the vertical direction: 1% DFC = 40,000/256 = 1.5%; 2.2% DFC = 30,000/256 = 12.5%; 3.9% DFC = 30,000/256 = 12.5%; 4.8
