-G Hosts Hyperstar-G has brought him here. Birk Yes, if you're confident you won't get defeated, I won't interfere. Hyperstar-G Do you want to go now? Medusa Then I'll teleport to between us. Hyperstar-G Wait.. You're not interfering with what we're after. Medusa Do you think it'll end up just like that, Hyperstar-G? Hyperstar-G Not sure. Medusa is slowly showing signs of wanting to... well, a smile that would make people all go "A-GAH!" Medusa I knew you had this kind of body. When I saw it at first, I just had to know. Hyperstar-G If I can't find a way to make her really smile, it might just be best to give in. What are those people trying to accomplish? Medusa They think you're the one. Hyperstar-G The one? Medusa The one who will make me smile. I've heard stories about people who can make people smile as if they were little children. They almost look like they want to. You see? Hyperstar-G Are you not scared of them? Medusa There's nothing I have to be scared of in your battle. Hyperstar-G There's so much of this world that's out of sight for us, and I think you're the only one who knows all about it. Medusa But it's already too late to be running. Now go. Hyperstar-G Are those people going to be alright if I fight against them? Medusa There's some pretty bad people in this land. They may take some time to destroy but will be in pieces even if you don't fight them, so I'd recommend going. Hyperstar-G All right. Birk Hoo boy. Medusa Thank you for saving me. Hyperstar-G I'm not going to do anything. I came here to make sure you didn't get hurt

Terrorists have taken over the power grid and earth's atmosphere is contaminated. The whole planet is living in a hellish nightmare and everyone is at the mercy of those bent on destruction. A government commission is formed and assigned the task to find the criminal masterminds behind the disastrous events that killed millions of people, destroyed the planet and caused a technological apocalypse. The task is also to prevent a second catastrophe and save humanity from utter annihilation. You are the leading scientist on this mission, a man who lost his family and wife in the takeover of the power grid. You will not stop until you have the perpetrators brought to justice and the villainous forces that played a role in all this wiped off the face of the earth. It is a race against time as the vast conspiracy is too powerful, but you are the only one who can stop it. We live in a world where life is under threat from many sources. The most dangerous of which is the rogue technological creation - AI. Artificial intelligence was supposed to make our lives better and safer. In reality, only the wealthiest of citizens enjoy the benefits of this technology. In Meet the Robinsons, you are a virtual human being known as a "Robinson." You are a savior, a protector and a guardian of the earth. You have agreed to undergo a transformation that will take place in two weeks. You will undergo a surgical procedure to replace your brain with a robotic brain. Your new brain is now connected to a very powerful computer system. You can move around in this world, but instead of being human, you are now a Robotic Being. This is a limited edition upgrade, and not everybody gets to join this program. That is why as a Robinsons, you have agreed to be the protector of this world. As a Robinsons, your skill set and computer skills are upgraded. You can now control robotic devices in the battlefield. You have also gained a powerful human sense to help you be alert and respond to threats in real time. The AI has become an extremely powerful force and is capable of wiping off the earth with a devastating attack. Your very existence is now at risk, but you will rise to the challenge as a superhero. Meet the Robinsons is a beautiful story of hope, love, and how we as people, we should treat each other with dignity. Recommended for you Stay up to date Volunteer Computer-controlled decision support system improves quality of care of surgical wounds. Specialized nursing care of surgical wounds aims at the achievement of a wound bed preparation for adequate grafting. To control the severity of surgical wounds, a computerized decision support system (DSS) has been developed. It consists of a wound model that can be flexibly used to determine the optimal time period for applying different devices. A user-friendly interface permits easy customization of the DSS, including the choice of dressing materials, various treatment options, and durations of application. The program integrates the calculations concerning the treatment of surgical wounds and displays them graphically and numerically. A high level of realism in the generated figures facilitates the simplification of the decision process for the surgeon. The generated graphs are printed as ready-to-use documents. A clinical trial was performed. Eight lecturers evaluated the DSS for a one-week inpatient hospital stay prior to surgery. The differences in physician decision processes were compared by using Fisher's exact test and McNemar's exact test for qualitative and quantitative variables. There was no significant difference in the reported decision processes concerning the effectiveness of various combinations of treatment options ($p=0.391$ for Fisher's exact test; $p=0$.
