The Steps to take in order to become an Elden Lord

In order to cultivate the tools of the Elden Ring, you must first learn about the Shards. To achieve this, you must become Tarnished. Only when you are authorized, you can visit the Elden Gate. Here, the quest to become an Elden Lord begins.

Guide the Adventure of Tarnished

Take on a few quests in the mysterious Sands Way. Next, you will have a quest titled "Disciples of the Fallen God." In these quest stages, you will encounter unexpected things and voices. That is the meaning of Tarnished as an Elden Lord—a mysterious figure that is born from mystery.

Story Mode

The title "Elden Lord" was given to a person that has defeated all the Tarnished, that have appeared since the start of Tarnished. You will accept the title in Tarnished, but you will also have to battle against Tarnished in Tarnished's Story Mode. After becoming an Elden Lord, you will find out about the true purpose of the Tarnished, the secret of the Fallen God's existence, and the power of the Elden Ring.

The game that is currently known as Elden Ring will be released in Japan on January 26, 2018. The game will also be released in English and French.

“Unlike the fantasy action RPGs of the main games, where you think there is no hope unless you make your character stronger or make new weapons by obtaining the rewards of quests, you can't grind a lot. You can't grind a lot. In [the] earlier games, the more battle information about monsters were accumulated, the more you can obtain monsters as a reward of quests. Even if you fought monsters using weapons you acquired from quests, you can't level up the equipment to become new weapons. In [the] new [game], you can show a variety of weapons. That is quite special.” “At first, I tried to create a character, but I could not find a good strategy at first. Although it is easy to make a character even in the new game, the weapon style can be greatly affected by the weapon you use. It is very important to make the right weapon choice.” “A journey that takes place even in the night. The place you find in the game is very wide. As a result, it is very possible to come across a place that you could not find for a long time, or to come across a good place with good weapons in the place you once forgot. I can still make a lot of battles even if I stay in the same place for a long time, so I like the game very much.” “I'm going to purchase the game by myself. I have been waiting for this game because I was able to play the old game at the time of the main game's release. Before then, I played the game that was on Nintendo DS and I want to play the new game that is on the GBA port. I hope to enjoy the first battle and I will purchase the game right away.” “The game is very simple at first. I was surprised that I could easily understand the game without reading the guide book. The next step, when my character was created, I was able to understand the strategy of the fights. The game is very easy to play and you can come across a huge variety of enemies in the game. I can understand the difference between monsters that can be killed and monsters that can't be killed. Therefore, I can play the game at a high speed.” “The new game is quite different from the old game, and I can't really remember the feeling of the old game. Even if I had the chance to bff6bb2d33

Interesting. They make me think those selected games are only for people in the EU. With America being only ~16 hours ahead it would make sense that this also holds true at the stream. Unfortunately I do not want to lose a favorite game due to some of the content being carried over from EU. If we look again the it shows a map of

God's Stairway: Through the Himalayas to the roof of the world By Ernie Altvater Jan. 9, 2008 8:44 pm ET The Blackburn Glacier is the tidewater glacier that empties into Lhotse Face of Mount Everest.
The Blackburn Glacier flows off a huge mass of ice known as the Central Icefield, which measures more than 23 miles long and is the largest in the world. The ice mass originates further west, near the North Col, and flows east for over 7 miles before it reaches the Blackburn Glacier at its eastern terminus. (Edwin Moses)

Advertisement The 20-mile long ice field that feeds Lhotse's South Face is the fastest moving glacier in the world. Three times a year, ice cubes as big as family cars form on the steep wall of rock known as the South Col and drop to the glacier, where they are carried as far as the Blackburn Glacier before falling back. Once, a huge chunk of ice three times the size of a school bus fell in this manner. (Edwin Moses) "We knew the upper section of the Blackburn Glacier had been frictional so we were able to predict that it would likely run down the lower cliff," said Walter. "But we found ice cubes instead of ice blocks. We had never seen this type of behavior before. One does not expect such a big object to run off the edge of a cliff, but we found that it was a very cold summer, and the ice cubes were literally melting at the top. "We thought it would have gone off the back side of the ridge, but it didn't. The ice was still intact at the terminus, but it was flat and actually ran along the precipice for a couple hundred meters. We had never seen such behavior in a glacier that was over 400 meters in depth. "We stood there and looked out over the vastness, with mountains on all sides. I had never seen a glacier before and was amazed by the scale. It was a curious sight." "To the south is the South Col," said Simon Conway Morris, a research geologist at the British Geological Survey. "It's a huge mass of ice that dominates the skyline of Lhotse, with a sheer face more than 4,000 meters high that provides the only route up to the top. The North Col is on the same ridge line on the opposite
