I'm trying to understand how to find the n-th Fibonacci number using a recursion algorithm. I think I could write out the code using a loop, but I was curious to see if I could use some form of recursion to solve this problem. The basic recursion seems simple enough; F_0 and F_1 are both set to 0, F_n is found by adding the previous two entries and dividing by 2, so $F_n = \frac{F_{n-1}+F_{n-2}}{2}$ When n is equal to 1, however, it does not yield the correct answer, i.e. $F_1 = 1$ and the correct answer is $F_1 = \frac{1+1}{2} = 2$. Why is it that the recursion algorithm does not work? 6d1f23a050
