esmfai (Saturday, December 18, 2021 16:37) On our team in the early 2000s, we used Excel as our data source and record source, which also worked in an Oracle environment, but the problem we had then was that we also used our SQL Server database, which was also used as a record source for Oracle. Since that working environment still works, I would like to consider using Oracle as the data source.

One of the most serious of these disorders, hyponatremia, is associated with increased morbidity and mortality in these patients. Several studies have demonstrated that rapid correction of the syndrome is associated with increased mortality and morbidity. The rationale for this study is that prevention of the syndrome is a more effective means of preventing adverse outcomes. The primary hypothesis of this proposal is that correction of hyponatremia rapidly (within 24 hrs) and moderately (0.5 to 1.0 mEq/L) will alter the mechanisms involved in the genesis c6a93da74d
