Hey, just wanted to post here about the issues I've had with barricades in the game. I've been playing for about 12 months now and have so far cleared the only PvE content, the Crucible, with the exception of the latest US. And, I love every moment of it. Tera is such a wonderful game and

I appreciate the (numerous) community involved. I have a level 48 Gunner with a bunch of Paragon level skills; Frost Armor, Beast, Shield Block, Draped, Focus Dive, Full Metal, etc.. I'm also a seasoned PvP'er, have won a lot of small rep matches and accumulated a decent level of reputation for myself. However, I've reached a point where I'm very unhappy with the inability to defeat barricades in our single player PvP scenarios (they keep getting set up behind enemy bases and shooting me until I'm at 60% -- which is 7 of 10 target locks -- or until I've used up my weapon cooldown. The biggest advantage for PvP is the Last Stand skill. For example, if the Archer is engaged by a... Looking good and real, ive tried to do changes in the last 5 pages of this thread.... Tera Gunner Chain Skills

Thief was designed to be a class that can help free struggling members of a party by pulling enemies away, or to steal equipment or items from groups. He is often chosen because his class skills are especially useful for pickpocketing. As he gains experience his Keybindings have an increased amount of the skills related to lockpicking. Thief is geared with a bow for ranged combat. He is especially good at dealing damage on an enemy when he has a prepared knife or his bow is drawn. Thief will often travel with a horse (mule), which will provide him with a form of stealth that will allow him to sneak by other enemies while riding. It has however been confirmed that riding a mule does not negate the sound distance that the mule makes, even when riding on roads and trails where animals and humans aren't normally encountered. With a bow, Thief can aim and fire faster than other classes, and can quickly headbutt a target that isn't moving quickly enough, taking advantage of the fact that any damage isn't taken until they're moved. A rogue is a secret class of TERA who can stealth around, hurt the enemies and steal their items. Having an arrow will help him stealth around. Also having a bow helps him damage other groups of enemies more effectively. They are also the first class to include a special attack named Triple Arrow that will hit 3 targets at once. Also in terms of stealth, it is quick and silent movement that are high in priority in TERA. He can sell information to help with gold farming, as when a thief is injured, he can go take the hurt party member (often a healer) to a keep for healing. Knowing when a wounded party member can be left to bleed out and die can save the party a lot of time.
