Dont overlook the benefits of having a long radius. This may not be the best tool for the job, but I use a good pair of wire cutters and a long radius for cutting conked vinyl. If you have a long radius cutter, set the top pin to the setting that tells the cutter to leave the most distance between the two pins. The radius of the cutter gives you plenty of movement and a much nicer rounded shape. If you want to try the four-in-one vinyl cutter, make sure you know how to use a press. You need to know how to apply the proper amount of pressure. You need to know how to use your hands, a vice (if you have one) or some other tool to hold down the vinyl. You need to know how to change the sheets.

You need to understand the types of vinyl and how it works. Once you feel comfortable with that process, you can have so much fun. Yes, he does. He has terrible hands and wears thick leather work gloves at all times. I have found that he can cut through even thick cardboard fairly easily. The other thing is that if the vinyl is on a bigger piece of paper and you wrap it all around the paper, there is some give in the vinyl. You can't cut through that, but you can remove that form of vinyl and the scissors will do the job. This has to be my favorite tool for this project. I've had a pair of these for years and they are great for cutting cardstock and vinyl. They are also usable for paper craft projects because they are flexible enough to be used as a straight edge. I've also found that the blades are sharp enough to do the trick with regular paper. We constantly update and enhance the Find Rotisserie Chops Wood And Metal Cutter that we sell at WorldOfTools.com.
