Q: How to parse in c# text of a file which has some keywords I need to parse and read the tags(the ones in the orange rectangle) from the file. Can anyone give me an idea about how to do it? Is there any method to read that? A: You can use a regular expression for that. Try this pattern: `([^\s]*)` This matches any tags that are followed by a tag name (in your case, this is 'T*'), then inside that, you can match any tag content (in this case, any content of any tag). The problem with this is that you need to write your own parser to get values of all the tags. And this is only the beginning. You need to make sure that you handle every type of tag, not just the one you defined. And you need to handle any exception that may occur during parsing. Another approach would be to use an existing parser for the HTML DOM. It won't give you complete information about the HTML, but it will give you the most of it. Good place to start would be the Parsing HTML with LINQ to XML page `package(default_visibility = ["/visibility:public"]) load("@io_bazel_rules_go/go:def.bzl", "go_library", ) go_library( name = "go_default_library", srcs = [ "interface.go", "job.go", ], importpath = "go-common/app/job/main/videoupdate/model", tags = ["automanaged"], visibility = ["/visibility:public"], deps = [ "/library/cache`
